Graveside Service For Ridgway Infant

Graveside services were held at 2 p. m. today at St. Joseph's cemetery at Ridgway, for William Randall Pfister, newly born infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pfister of Ridgway, who died Monday afternoon in the Pearce hospital at Eldorado.

The Rev. John Venegoni officiated and arrangements were in charge of the Cox funeral service. William Randall was one of twins born to Mr. and Mrs. Pfister. The other, a girl, has been taken to the baby center at Springfield.

Unemployment Total In U. S. Hits 3,374,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment in December climbed to 3,374,000—the highest for any December since 1949 — the government reported today.

This also was the greatest number of jobless persons since February, 1950, when there were 4,684,000 unemployed.

The total was nearly 200,000 greater than the November figure of 3,188,000 and 660,000 greater than December, 1956.

The figure for last month also represented the highest rate of joblessness in three years.

The monthly report on the U. S. labor force by the Labor and Commerce showed a December unemployment rate, adjusted for seasonal swings in jobs, of 5.2 per cent of the nation's labor force.

The December rate was the highest since the 5.4 per cent of November, 1954. The November, 1957, rate was 5.1 per cent.

The report showed a total of 64,396,000 persons employed during December—about the same as December, 1956. The greater number of unemployed last month, compared to December, 1956, is accounted for by the increase in the total labor force.

For example, the total labor force last month was 70,458,000 compared with 69,855,000 for December, 1956. On this basis, the number of persons with jobs last month dropped nearly half a million from November.

The report attributed the increase in unemployment to "further sharp cutbacks in manufacturing and construction."

Bus Rolls Down Embankment With 36 Aboard

Eight High School Students, Bus Driver Treated

Eight Harrisburg Township high school students living south of Harrisburg and the driver of the school bus in which they were riding received minor injuries this morning in a crash of their bus and an auto on Route 145 near Mitchellsville. The bus, carrying about 36, rolled down a 20-foot embankment.

Seven of the students were treated at Lightner hospital and released. The eighth received treatment at Harrisburg hospital. Also receiving treatment was Robert Coseboom, the bus driver, who, too, was not hospitalized. The driver of the auto, Charles Gidcomb, was not injured.

All the students lived in the Mitchellsville-Somersets - Delwood-Spring Valley area which is from about six miles south of Harrisburg south to near the county line. The bus covers the area south of Harrisburg to Wamble Mountain.

Some of the injured were brought to Harrisburg by ambulance and others by automobile.

Report to School
Taken to Lightner hospital were James Endicott, Linda Guley, John Tucker, Wilma Hamby, Gary Henshaw, Dewan Harner and Stanley Howton. Jimmy Barnes was treated at Harrisburg hospital.

At the high school it was learned that James Endicott, John Tucker and Dewan Harner went to their classes from the hospital and that five other students who reported to school without treatment were sent to the hospitals for examination and possible treatment. They were LaDonna and Darlene Duncan, Judy Martin, Barbara Dudley and Kathleen Howton.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Donelson, who investigated the accident, said that both the bus and the automobile driven by young Gidcomb, a 16-year-old Harrisburg Township high school student, were traveling toward Harrisburg.

He said Gidcomb told him that just as he passed the bus his left rear tire blew out and that his auto swerved into the path of the bus, the collision resulting.

Down Steep Embankment
Gidcomb's car, damaged extensively, tore down a section of guard rail on the east side of the fill and the school bus went off the west side of the road and down the steep embankment, not turning over or hitting anything, although it was a wooded area.

Donelson said investigation showed that Gidcomb's left rear tire had blown out.

The McCormack Coach Co. of Harrisburg, which operates the school bus, said that the bus has a capacity of 46 and that there were approximately 36 on the bus at the time of the crash. The driver had three more stops to make to pick up students, it was stated.

The bus sustained damage to its front axle, front bumper, right door and slight damage to the body on the left side.

Ask Hike in Debt Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Treasury Robert B. Anderson today sent Congress a request for a temporary increase of five billion dollars in the public debt limit.

The present limit is 275 billion dollars.

President Eisenhower, in his budget message to Congress Monday, said the present limit is "too restrictive in view of rising defense expenditures and of the need for more flexibility to permit efficient and economical debt management."

Anderson requested that the temporary increase run from the date it would be signed into law until the end of the next fiscal year—June 30, 1959.

The request compares with the last temporary boost of three billion dollars approved by Congress for fiscal 1957 which ended last June 30, and the six-billion-dollar temporary boost authorized by Congress for the two years ended June 30, 1956.

Red Ink Spending
Anderson's request was made in letters to Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark.), chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and Rep. Daniel A. Reed (N.Y.), ranking GOP of the committee.

Anderson also sent the request to Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and Sen. Edward P. Martin (Pa.), ranking minority member.

The request came at a time when key lawmakers of both parties agreed that the federal government is heading into a new period of red-ink spending despite the "balanced" budget sent to Congress Monday by the President.

The public debt, as of today, is $274,250,766.593.

Freed Under Bond
William Earl Goss, 21, has been released under $1,000 bond on a burglary charge. Goss waived preliminary hearing to await grand jury action when arraigned before Justice of the Peace O. L. Woods. He is charged with burglarizing the Potter pool room at Galatia.

Sarah Churchill Lands In Jail On Charge of Drunkenness
MALIBU, Calif. (AP) — Actress Sarah Churchill stars today in a coast-to-coast color television show despite a legal hangover from a fling that landed her handcuffed in jail on a charge of drunkenness. The red-haired green-eyed daughter of former British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill was arrested by sheriff's deputies at her home Monday after the telephone company reported she had been using overly lurid language for two hours on her wires.

Miss Churchill's case in Justice Court was put off until Thursday and authorities released her in $50 bail so she could appear on the NBC-TV "Matinee Theater" performance of "The Makropoulos Secret."

Director Walter Grauman said the 43-year-old actress was "okay" on her lines at rehearsal and he was confident that "Sarah will do all right" on the show.

Deputies Barney Miller and George Gentzvin described the actress as "obviously drunk" when they arrived at her home early Monday.

The officers said they attempted to quiet Miss Churchill and sought to leave without "making trouble." But Miller said the actress jumped into their patrol car, sat on Gentzvin's lap and refused to get out.

"She still had a drink in her hand," Miller said. "She kept up cussing and talking about how London was going to bomb the United States. She said, 'There will always be an England, but I'm not too sure of the United States.'"

Two Carbondale Men Held Under $10,000 Bonds

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Two Carbondale men were being held under $10,000 bonds here on charges of possession of more than $10,000 in counterfeit money.

The two, Clifford P. Rowe, 22, and Francis W. Adams, 36, were arraigned Monday before U. S. Commissioner William B. Citten-den. The men were arrested Sunday by a state policeman who noticed their car had only one license plate. He searched the car and found $2,340 in counterfeit $10 and $20 bills.

Adams, a printer, and Rowe, then admitted they had more bogus money stashed in a safety deposit box in a bank at Marion.

Secret Service agents opened the box, held under the name of "Gene Smith" at the Bank of Marion, and found an additional $8,000 in counterfeit bills.

Adams admitted making the money in his print shop and the two men admitted passing about $850 in bad bills in Chicago and St. Louis during the past two weekends.

At Carbondale, Adams' wife, the mother of three, said she was "so shocked I don't know what to do or say."

Mrs. Adams said her husband's mother had gone from Galesburg to be with her son in Springfield. She said her husband formerly lived in East St. Louis and once was employed by the Southern Illinois University printing service in Carbondale.

Big Three Auto Makers, Union Opponent Oppose Reuther Plan

DETROIT (AP) — Leaders of the big three auto companies and a union opponent of Walter P. Reuther today shared the opposition to Reuther's 1958 contract demands for a share of profits and a maze of economic gains.

At the same time a leading economist, who is also a member of the union's public review board, labeled the profit-sharing plan "window dressing — a publicity move one should expect at the beginning of bargaining sessions."

The presidents of the auto companies called Reuther's profit sharing plan a danger to the free enterprise system and said his wage demands are too big.

Stellato Opposes Plan
The union opponent of Reuther, who is UAW president, is Carl Stellato, president of Local 300, the Ford Rouge plant local which includes 40,000 members, largest local in the world.

Stellato was a backer of a shorter work week, which was dropped by Reuther and the UAW executive board because of the economic recession and the needs of national security.

Stellato said he would lead a fight for the four-day week at the special UAW convention here Jan. 22-24. The convention of 3,000 delegates must approve the Reuther plan, already passed by the 25-member executive board and a 200-member steering committee.

Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors Corp., said the UAW's bargaining objectives announced Monday "are in keeping with the union's earlier threat to exert its tremendous economic power."

L. L. Colbert, Chrysler Corp. president, and Ernest R. Breech, Ford Motor Co. board chairman, both referred to Reuther's "monopoly power" as "dangerous" and "tremendous" in discussing the UAW contract terms.

Political Crossfire Raging Over Eisenhower Missile Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Democrats and Republicans lunged new charges today in a raging political crossfire over President Eisenhower's missile leadership.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) declared that "no amount of political hokum and bunkum" will convince Americans the Eisenhower administration "has adequately taken care of national defense."

Humphrey said one of the administration's first acts five years ago was to trim five billion dollars from former President Truman's defense budget and two billion from foreign aid.

The Minnesota Democrat's charge apparently was aimed at countering a broadside fired Monday night by Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland and House GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin. They asserted in a joint statement the Truman administration must bear most of the blame if the United States is trailing Russia in missile development.

But in New York, Truman said Monday night they were trying after five years "to pass the buck" and it was a little late.

Truman started the running fight in an interview by saying Eisenhower was a great military leader because "he had someone to tell him what to do."

But Truman did have one word of praise for the President. He told reporters Monday, Eisenhower had written a "good" reply to Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon told a lunch audience Monday that Eisenhower had shown last week that he "has the voice and the brain and knows what to do for the United States."

Knowland and Martin reacted with much greater violence in a "public memorandum" addressed to Truman and replying to his "incredible remarks."

They said expert testimony from scientists and military leaders showed that "if today we are behind the Soviet Union in some respects in the race to perfect the weapons of the future . . . a considerable part of the blame lies on the doorstep of your administration."

County Tourist Industry Group To Meet Jan. 19

The Saline County Tourist Industry association will hold its annual business meeting Sunday, Jan. 19, at 2 p. m. in the basement of the Mitchell-Caragie library. The association invites wives and husbands of members and prospective members to attend.

Following the business meeting for election of county officers and representatives for the Shawnee Hills Recreation association there will be a showing of color and black and white pictures. Members and guests are invited to bring pictures of tourist attractions in southern Illinois to John Foster, chairman of the Photography committee.

The main order of business will be a finance and membership campaign to be managed by Treasurer Don Scott. Louis Aaron, chairman of the History committee, will be in charge of plans for refreshments.

The six-county Shawnee Hills meeting will be held at the Goreville Masonic building the following evening. To speak will be W. F. Porter, industrial agent and E. E. Gordon, special assistant, of the C. and E. I. Railroad Co.

HIGHWAY LITTER—This stretch of Route 45, near the Middle Fork bridge, was both unsightly and unsafe as the result of packing cartons strewn along one lane of traffic. Drivers of vehicles had no way of knowing if the boxes were full or empty, so this particular part of the state highway, near a curve and a bridge, became one-way traffic as the result of someone's carelessness. After the photo was made the boxes were kicked off on the shoulder—still unsightly, but no longer a traffic hazard. (Daily Register Staff Photo)

The Beleaguered Mr. Dulles

EDITORIAL BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

For at least the last two decades, marking the time of our deepest involvement in world affairs, the U. S. secretary of state has been a pivotal figure in government. A good half that time, he has also been a center of controversy.

It is perhaps inevitable that he should be at the focus of whatever storm currents may be blowing.
Americans always like to personalize their complaints by assailing an individual instead of a policy. And, with the country new at international leadership, they have found plenty to complain about in the years since World War II.

Ideally, a secretary of state ought to have the confidence not only of his president and his fellow cabinet officers but of the whole American people and of friendly foreign peoples and their diplomatic spokesmen.

This is a large order, and no one has yet filled it.

Under the Truman regime, Dean Acheson became one of the most harried figures in U. S. diplomatic history. Acheson was respected abroad and had Mr. Truman's unflinching support at all times. But he was continually in heavy political crossfire at home, and this impaired both his domestic status and his effectiveness beyond American shores.

Secretary of State Dulles likewise has unshakable backing from his president. But he, too, has had difficulty gaining a vote of confidence from Americans generally.

There is irony in this for him.
Dulles has leaned over backwards trying to take the people with him as our foreign policy has been shaped to events.

Not only has this not worked as well as he had hoped, but the effort has evidently contributed to his failure to establish a trustful relationship with top diplomats in allied governments.

Among these men there is flatly no confidence in Dulles. They say they are not sure when they have a firm agreement with him, and they worry over the possible impact on their countries when he negotiates elsewhere.

The situation presents a real dilemma. Mr. Eisenhower has the utmost faith in Dulles. But the men he must deal with do not. Yet we are in the middle of a period when delicately effective diplomatic negotiation may be a greater necessity than ever in our history.

Some would say we cannot allow our foreign friends, through negative attitudes, to dictate who our chief diplomat shall be. This is a pretty good proposition. Except that if it is clung to blindly for an indefinite time, it could bring our diplomacy to the brink of futility.

Matter of FACT

The Great Pyramid, near Giza, Egypt, was built about 3,000 B.C. by King Cheops
(Khufu). His son, Chephren (Khafra) built the Second Pyramid, only a little smaller than his father's. In measuring out the base of the Great Pyramid, the king's engineers made less than 1 inch error in 756 feet per side. The next king, Menkaura (Mycerinus), built the Third Pyramid.

"Odd---I Was Thinking of Your Constituents, Too"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
John Foster Dulles Offers To Resign; Ike Declines To Accept Resignation Now; Kremlin Has Stolen Madison Avenue's Public Relations Techniques.

WASHINGTON. — John Foster Dulles, almost 70 years old and miraculously recovered from a serious cancer operation, began the year 1958 by laying before President Eisenhower his resignation as secretary of state.

It was a sincere, courageous,
but personally pathetic gesture.
Being secretary of state has been the crowning ambition of Foster Dulles' life. As a small boy, he looked forward to the day when he could follow in the footsteps of his grandfather, John Foster, secretary of state under President Benjamin Harrison, a Republican. As a young man he served as assistant to his uncle, Robert E. Lansing, a Democratic secretary of state under Woodrow Wilson.

The first thing Dulles did when he finally achieved his great ambition was to call all State Department personnel together and tell them how he was following in the footsteps of his grandfather and uncle.

Since then Dulles has shown flashes of great personal brilliance. Diplomats who talk with him say he has a great personal grasp of foreign affairs. But he has failed to get teamwork. He has failed to build morale. He has paid more attention to GOP isolationists on Capitol Hill than to leadership abroad.

And slowly, American prestige has sunk to one of its lowest ebbs in history.

As Dulles went to see the President, French Foreign Minister Pinard was telling a group of Americans that American policy would be based on "quicksand" as long as John Foster Dulles remained in office. The biggest contribution Dulles could make to allied unity he said, would be to resign.

"GREATEST SECRETARY OF STATE" — IKE

Dulles didn't know about this statement, but he did exactly that. He offered to resign. He told Eisenhower he would be 70 years old in a few months, had been secretary of state for five years.

"Now that the Russians have launched their Sputniks," Dulles' friends quote him as telling the President, "I know the Democratic attacks on me will increase. So perhaps you should look for a new, younger secretary of state who will not be a liability to your foreign policy."

Eisenhower told Dulles what he has told several other people about Dulles, that he considered Dulles "the greatest secretary of state in history."

According to Dulles' friends, he added: "No one is going to force me to fire you."

Eisenhower also said he didn't know where he'd get another secretary of state. Dulles finally agreed to carry on, but told the President that if his health got worse he would quit at the end of the congressional session, with enough notice so the President could find a successor.

KREMLIN COPIES
MADISON AVE.

Someone in the Kremlin has been stealing the Madison Avenue techniques used by the White House.

It's a rule of thumb for any good public relations man to release news when there's a vacuum, and try to blanket out the opposition's headlines with headlines of your own. That's why Jim Hagerty saves certain White House stories and breaks them when the President is at Gettysburg or Augusta.

Some people also wondered why Jim Hagerty broke the story of plans for an American earth satellite in July 1955, when it was supposed to be secret. But just at that time a member of the cabinet, Secretary of the Air Force Harold Talbott, was under Senate investigation for a conflict of interest. The White House needed competing headlines to drown out the Senate probe.

Again the President's second "chins up" telecast was shoved forward to November 7, because White House strategists wanted him to be able to answer the Russians if they broke any big news on November 7—their 40th anniversary.

Today, however, the Kremlin is reversing these tactics. Just as Eisenhower was ready to leave for NATO, Premier Bulganin sent European nations a series of peace notes. They partly undermined our plans for the missile armament of Western Europe.

Then, on the day Ike was to deliver his State of the Union message, Bulganin dropped another note in the peace hopper.
This one not only proposed a non-aggression pact but enclosed the text of the proposed pact.

Bulganin's timing was so perfect that his note got more headlines in Western Europe than Ike's speech. While Eisenhower was proposing "orks not words," Bulganin sent the draft of a concrete treaty.

Note—In Washington, the White House uses the pert services of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, one of the top advertising agencies on Madison Avenue to guide its public relations. The diplomatic corps is wondering whom the Kremlin hires.

UNDER THE DOME

There were some tense, unnoticed moments during the President's State of the Union address.
Two Secret Service men slipped a stretcher and first-aid equipment into the Speaker's lobby behind the rostrum where the President was to speak. At one point in his speech, Ike started to cough. Press Secretary Jim Hagerty pointed urgently to a glass of water. Ike ignored the water and went on with his speech. . . . President Eisenhower asked Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to put some finishing touches on his State of the Union message. Lodge had come to talk about the United Nations, but Eisenhower complained that the message was flatter and cold er than yesterday's pancakes.
asked him to put some grip in it.
St. Lodge, who once worked for the New York Herald Tribune, sat down to pep up the President's message.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes... Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N. Y. (Special) — The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription. Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms. This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription — so safe that now it can be sold — without prescription — in tiny tablets called Primatene.
Primatene opens bronchial tubes, loosens mucous congestion, relieves taut nervous tension. All this without taking painful injections. The secret is — Primatene combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress. Each performs a special purpose. So look forward to sleep at night and freedom from asthma spasms. . . get Primatene, at any drugstore. Only 98¢ — money-back guarantee. ©1956, Whitehall Pharmaceutical Company

The President Starlight

The newest, most original Hardtops on the American road...

1958 Studebaker Starlights

From the famed Golden Hawk comes the long, low high-fashion styling, the graceful fins, the open-air gaiety... of America's newest hardtops!

Luxury-styled, precision built, both the President and Commander Starlights combine the open-air freedom of a convertible with the all-weather snugness of a luxury sedan.

And, beneath their original exteriors, they retain all the extra craftsmanship that value-conscious car owners have long associated with Studebaker-Packard automobiles: dependable Sweepstakes engine with choice of horsepower and transmission; Safety-Built bodies; variable ratio steering, and extra large brake lining area.

Comfort, too, is everything you'd expect... from the heavily upholstered, deep-piled cushioned seats and extra foot room in rear... to the safety-padded dashboard and exclusive Flight-Style instrument panel.

Visit your local Studebaker-Packard Dealer today... he'll be proud to show you these two all-new cars; gladly send you off to guest-drive your choice.

Outstanding Program Presented At Harrisburg Woman's Club

Bad weather and illness held the attendance of the Harrisburg Woman's club to a small gathering Monday afternoon when even the officers "doubled" for the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Roscoe Creek, and treasurer, Mrs. Roscoe Metcalf, who were absent because of illness. Mrs. W. W. Damron, president, read the absent members' reports and an outstanding program was presented to those attending.

Mrs. Ralph Brown gave a review of the book by Henrietta Buckmaster on the "Life of St. Paul" and Bill Bauman of Vienna, piano pupil of Mrs. Pearl Sherman, gave a remarkable presentation of Rachmaninoff's Prelude in C-Sharp Minor. He is a young man of high school age. He also played a Cuban novelty number that pleased his listeners. Mrs. J. L. Miller chose a devotion of particular value in this missile age and Mrs. Walter Unsell, chairman, opened the program with words of hope and character.

Although the audience was small, it was deeply appreciative for a rewarding program to justify getting out in the rain. Mrs. L. I. Webb was the attending hostess and Mrs. L. M. Hancock led the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Calendar Of Meetings

The True Blue Sunday school class of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church will meet in the home of Mrs. Wendell King at 7:30 p. m. today.

Midweek service at the First Methodist church will be at 7 p. m. Wednesday in Hall Chapel.

The first of a series of meetings to study Japan, a course that will be taught by Mrs. Lolo Eddy will be held 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. Wednesday in Wesley Center.

The Carrier Mills Past Matron's club will meet Thursday at 12 noon, for a potluck dinner.

Jayne, Mike Wed Premiere Style

PALOS VERDES ESTATES, Calif. (AP)—Blonde Jayne Mansfield, a vision in pink in a form-fitting wedding dress, Monday night got her man but not her wish for a quiet, solemn wedding ceremony without "fuss and publicity."

Fans and friends looked on a the bosomy, 24-year-old actress and Mickey Hargitay, 29-year-old former Mr. Universe, were wed in the glass-walled modernist Wayfarer's Chapel of the Church of New Jerusalem.

Thousands of curious, including chanting teenagers in blue jeans, jammed the area, craning their necks to see through and around the shrubbery which partly hid the ceremony inside the chapel.

Traffic was blocked a mile and a half along the highway below the church. Floodlights lighted the scene and red flares lined the road. The whole atmosphere was one of a Hollywood premiere.

Miss Christina Rae Baker Present For Grandparents' Anniversary

Miss Christina Rae Baker, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. G. E. Crane, Fort Eustis, Va., was visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Cummins of the Ingram Hill community, when they celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary, Dec. 28. Miss Baker visited her grandfather, Clint Baker of Cottage Grove and other relatives and friends in an near Harrisburg, also.

She was with her grandparents Cummins at dinner when Mr. Cummins took his wife out to celebrate the occasion of their anniversary. Miss Baker has returned to Fort Eustis to resume her studies in the sophomore class of the high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne M. Conrad of Belleville, Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Guest and children, Dennis and Kenneth of De Soto, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Schroll and daughter, Jane Ellen of Texas City, Texas, have returned to their homes following a holiday visit in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Schroll, 1024 West Barnett street, Harrisburg.

Week end visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wallace were their daughter's family, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Tolley, and son, Steven Ray. Other recent visitors in the Wallace home at 708 South Granger street were cousins, Mrs. Anna Marie Boothe, Harrisonburg, La.; Mrs. Ludean La Prairie and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Gordon and children, Jonesville, La. This was the first visit of the cousins to Harrisburg for nearly 30 years.

Dorrisville B. W. C. Meets With Mrs. Avah Lyons

The B. W. C. of the Dorrisville Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Avah Lyons. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Gay Hull.

The theme of the program was "The Golden Door," which tells how America has been a symbol of the "Golden Door" through which oppressed people of the earth could enter to find shelter, life and liberty.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. LaVerne Cooper and refreshments were then served to the following:

Gay Hull, Judy Brown, Norma Aldridge, Maxine Stephens, Avah Lyons, LaVerne Cooper, and two little visitors, Cheryl Lynn Cooper and Mary Hull.

Methodist W.S.C.S. to Study First of Series of Four Lessons Wednesday

The first of a series of four lessons on "A Study of Japan," sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist church, will be given by Mrs. Lolo Eddy on Wednesday morning at 9:30 to 11:30.

This is a mission study course for which jurisdictional credit will be given to the Society and Wesleyan Service Guild members who attend. A good percentage of attendance is needed, however, in order to receive the jurisdiction credit so all women of the church are urged to attend.

Nation's Rust Bill 7 and Half Billion Year

CHICAGO (AP)—Rust costs the nation approximately seven and a half billion dollars a year, according to the University Research Corporation.

Cables, pipes and foundations suffer one billion dollars in damage from contact with wet earth.

URC said on the basis of a recent study of rust prevention. Home owners pay an annual bill of one and one-fourth billion dollars for corrosion damage, the cost to railroads is 500 million, and to farmers, 300 million.

Corrosion engineers have developed "sacrificial anodes" as a preventive from the damage of corrosion in water. These are chemically active metals—usually magnesium, zinc or aluminum—which protect less active metals like iron and steel. The anode suffers the damage itself, and is replaced when deterioration reaches a specified point.

Rust preventive coatings are used in increasing quantity by industrial plants.

XXXI

In the hotel dining room I had a breakfast and smoked the first cigarette of the day as I drove to the Lakeport police station, arriving there at a quarter of nine. Chief Campbell was waxy pale and his black eyes seemed sunken in their sockets. The left side of his lean jaw was faintly swollen. "Good morning, Chief," I said, and nodded at his jaw. "Tooth-ache?"

He touched his jaw and said, "Yes," shortly.

"Better see a dentist. Is Howell able to rise and shine?"

He nodded. "I've been waiting for you to arrive before I released him. And I've warned him that a recurrence of his outbursts will result in a stiff fine and a jail sentence."

"Fair enough. I've appreciated your cooperation."

He smiled thinly. Let's say it's for old time's sake. Be sure and tell your boss."

He'll appreciate it, too," I said, and added, "I suppose the sheriff has given you the details of what happened last night at Mariana Beach?"

"Yes, Sam called me." He fixed me with a cold stare. "And I've talked with my daughter, Bennett. She went out there innocently."

"Even though she knew that Wayne was married?" I asked.

"Even though she knew that Wayne was gone and that his wife was at the cottage alone?"

His lean jaw hardened. "Bennett, is there anything wrong with a girl saying goodbye to a man, and returning something she had borrowed, even if he is married?"

"Not a thing, Chief. Forget it. Did you tell Howell what happened last night?"

He shook his head. "I didn't tell him anything."

I said, "The sheriff had a man watching young Howell last night."

He nodded in approval. "Routine. Sam's having a meeting at 11. I assume you'll be there?"

"Yes."

"So will I, with my daughter. She's quite—upset about it."

"Good morning," a voice behind us said.

We both turned. Gus stood in the doorway, looking very sharp in a freshly laundered and pressed uniform blouse and trousers.

"Good morning, Gus," the chief said gravely.

Gus nodded at me and said to Campbell. "I'll take over now. You go home and get some sleep. By the way, Jake got back from his charter sooner than he expected—the fish weren't biting and I guess his party got disgusted. So Jake is available, if you want him. How's Richard?"

"Better," the chief said. "He may be able to return to duty today. Please unlock Mr. Howell's cell." He nodded at me. "I'm releasing him in Mr. Bennett's custody."

Hugo Howell, followed by Gus, came through the door from the cells. He seemed sober, and didn't look bad at all. Of course, he needed a shave and the green sport shirt he was wearing was wrinkled and his white trousers were smeared with dirt. "Bennett," he said heavily, "I think I'll go on the wagon."

"That's a good idea," I looked at Gus. "Okay for us to go?"

"You heard what the chief said," Gus patted Howell's shoulder. "Now, listen, Pop, take it easy. Hear?"

"Don't worry, son," Howell said. "I won't cause you no more trouble."

Howell and I went out. After we were in my car I sat with my hands on the wheel and said, "Now, listen; the chief didn't say anything about keeping an eye on you any more, but I don't think you have to worry. I've got a hunch that the person who killed Ambrose Lott and took a shot at you yesterday, has lit out for parts unknown. Besides, I'm to be busy this morning. But I have some things to tell you."

He looked at me quickly. "About that—woman?"

I nodded. "A couple of things about her. In the first place, her marriage to Wayne was not legal. She was already married to a man from Detroit."

He sighed heavily and said, "I knew it—I mean I knew she was no good. I tried to tell Wayne. You're sure?"

"Yes, I'm sure. You can quit worrying about your share of the trust money."

"It wasn't just that," he said. "Shut up," I snapped. "It was just the money and you know it. Now maybe you can pay me."

"Now, look here," he blurted. "I got money of my own. I can pay your bill."

"You're overdrawn right now."

"How do you know—?" He stopped abruptly.

"Never mind how I know. When I take a job I make it my business to know a lot of things. I've got to. And there's something else; last night Sandra—the woman Wayne married—was killed. Murdered with an ice pick. The sheriff thinks Wayne did it, out of jealousy, because shortly before she was killed I told Wayne that she was already married. He took it pretty hard."

"Killed? That's—terrible."

"Yes," I said.

"Listen," he said, "why didn't you tell me she was already married? Before you told Wayne? I could have handled him."

"You were in jail," I said coldly. "Remember? And Wayne had to know sooner or later. Maybe my timing was bad, but I just happened to see him—and I told him."

I went on to tell him about my date with Sandra, how she didn't show up, how I'd found her at the cottage and what happened afterward.

29 New Permits For Teachers Issued in County

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — A total of 29 new teacher and supervisory certificates was issued in Saline county from July 1, 1957, through December 31, 1957, the first half of the current school year, by the Illinois State Teacher Certification board, it was reported by Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction and ex officio chairman of the certification board.

Of the statewide total of 7,594 new certificates, 388 were junior college and supervisory certificates. All-grade supervisory certificates numbered 233, elementary supervisory 116 and junior college certificates 39. Regular teaching certificates, which totaled 5,067, included 2,591 for high school, 613 for special and 1,863 elementary.

Provisional certificates, by credit or test, numbered 2,139. Of this group, 549 were on the high school level, 149 special, 1,437 elementary and four vocational.

Largest certification was made in Cook county, with total certificates issued in the amount of 2,155. DuPage county was second with 513. All of the state's 102 counties were included in the new certifications, Nickell added.

Fees for issuance of certifications totaled $16,538 over the entire state, all of which has been turned in to the state treasury, the superintendent concluded.

Neal School Closed; Students Sent to Harco, Harrisburg

As a result of becoming a part of the Galatia Community Unit District Neal school did not resume operations following the Christmas holidays.

There were twenty-seven pupils in Neal school, taught by Mrs. Hattie Smith. Two of the pupils were in the Harrisburg district and are now enrolled at Horace Mann.

The remaining twenty-five pupils are attending the Harco attendance center and Mrs. Smith has been added to the faculty.

The Harco teaching staff was composed of Arthur Boy, 7 and 8 grades; Coeva Carney, 4 and 5 grades; Mrs. Smith, 3rd and 4th; Marie Jones, 1st and 2nd.

The Galatia Community district was approved by patrons at an election just prior to the beginning of the school term and Neal school opened as scheduled, but plans were made to make the change during the Christmas vacation.

Five Colors

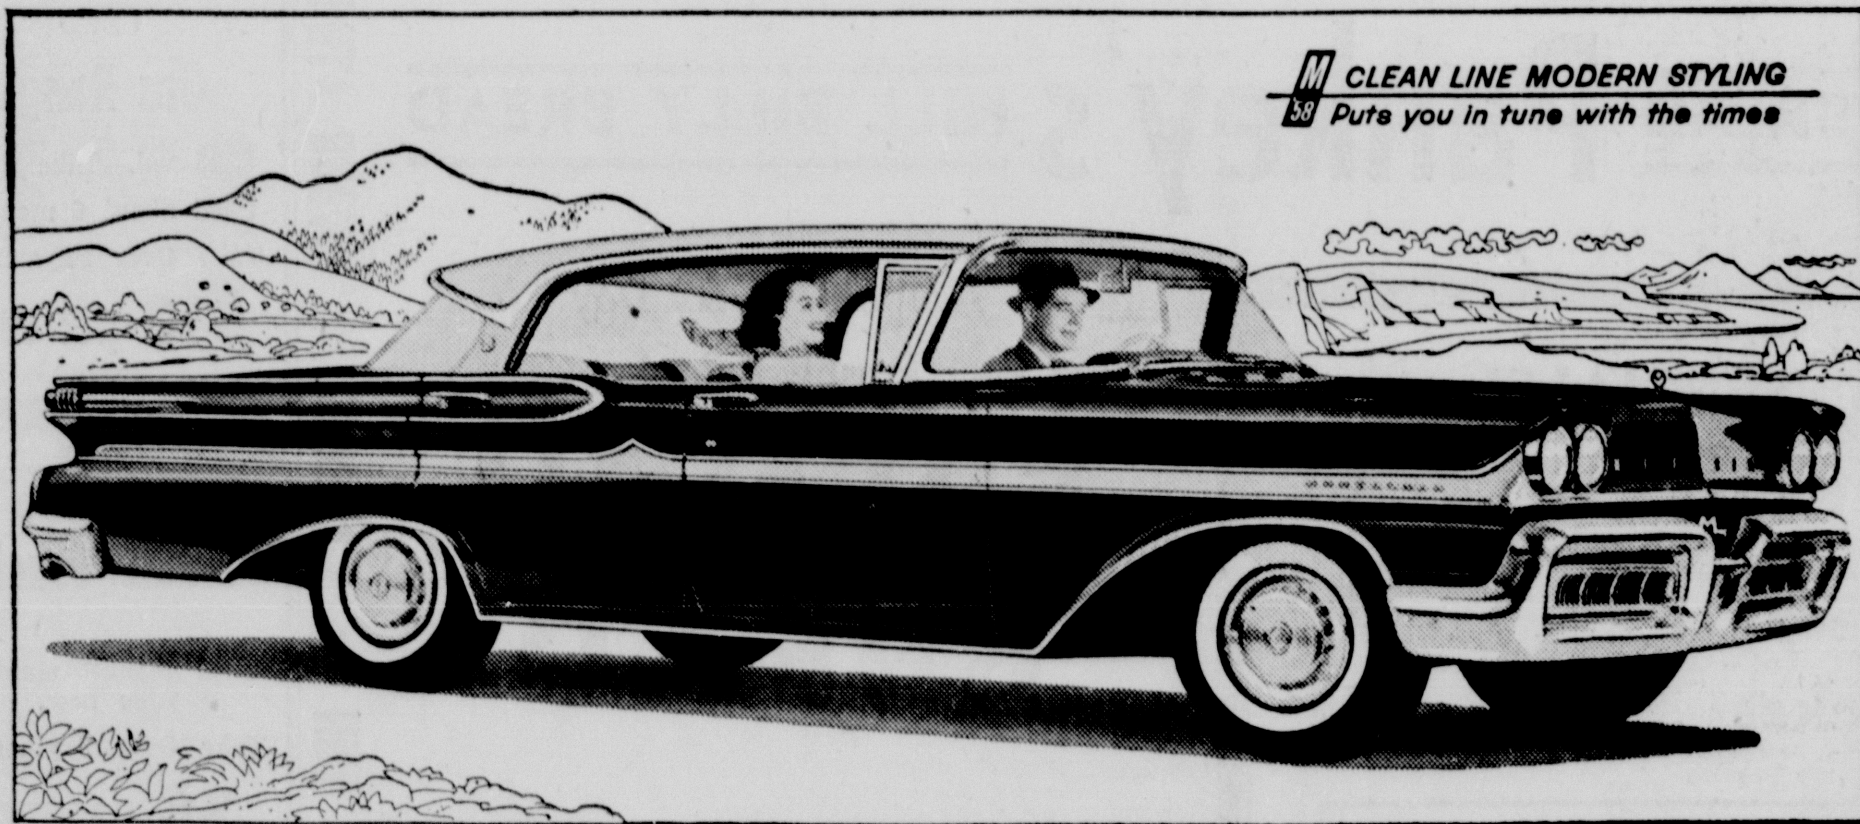

British heralds recognize only five colors for coats of arms: red, blue, black, green and purple. Yellow and white in coats of arms are not colors, but represent the metals gold and silver.

Temperatures in Texas vary from an annual mean of 56 degrees in the Panhandle to 74 degrees in the lower Rio Grande valley.

1958 PERFORMANCE CHAMPION

Mercury outperforms every car in America—regardless of price.

Mercury's new money-saving Marauder V-8 engines bring you more power—FROM LESS GAS.

PROOF! MORE POWER PER POUND THAN ANY OTHER CAR

HIGHEST-PRICED FIELD

BASED ON 4-DOOR MODELS WITH HIGHEST STANDARD HORSEPOWER-TO-WEIGHT RATIO

NEW! HIGHEST HORSEPOWER IN THE FIELD!

By the most important yardstick of a car's performance—power-per-pound—Mercury has no equal. It outclasses every full-sized car in America.

In actual horsepower, Mercury not only leads its field with 360 hp, but surpasses all cars except one—and that one costs almost $1,000 more.

NEW ECONOMY! MORE POWER FROM LESS GAS!

Mercury's championship performance is the result of a completely new family of money-saving Marauder V-8 engines—one for each series of cars. 312 hp for the Montereys, 330 hp for the Montclairs, and 360 hp for the Park Lanes. These engines are of a revolutionary new Cool-Power design. Power and fuel once lost to heat and friction are put to work for you. You get more power from less gas.

SPECIAL TO OWNERS OF THE "LOW-PRICED 3"

Why settle for less than the Performance Champion? Mercury prices start below many models of smaller, far less powerful cars!

Assignments for Eldorado Cage Regional Tourney Week of March 3

Harrisburg, Carrier Mills, Eldorado, Norris City, McLeansboro, Equality, Ridgway and Shawneetown Scheduled to Compete

Assignments to regional and district basketball tournaments released at 6 p. m. today reveal that Harrisburg, Carrier Mills, Eldorado, Equality, McLeansboro, Norris City, Ridgway and Shawneetown will compete in the Eldorado regional high school meet the week of March 3. Galatia will go to West Frankfort.

The district meets, which will send representatives into regional tournaments, will start the week of Feb. 24. However, there is no district tournament for the Eldorado regional.

The pairings and playing schedules for the regional and district tournaments will be announced by the Illinois High School association on or about Feb. 1, Executive Secretary Albert Willis revealed.

Sectional Here

Regionals at Eldorado, Mt. Carmel, West Frankfort and Metropolis will send their champions in to the Harrisburg sectional.

The West Frankfort regional will have Benton, Christopher, Galatia, Johnston City, Sesser, West Frankfort, Zeigler and the Waltonville district champion fighting for the right to compete in the Harrisburg sectional. The Waltonville district teams are Ashley, Bluford, Tamara, Thompsonville, Valier, Waltonville and Woodlawn.

The regional at Mt. Carmel will have the following teams: Albion, Carmi, Fairfield, Grayville, Mt. Carmel, Mt. Vernon, Wayne City and the champion of the Enfield district, where Crossville, Dahlgren, Enfield and Mills Prairie will compete.

Teams at Metropolis

The other regional which will send its champ to the Harrisburg sectional — Metropolis — will have these quintets: Brookport, Cave-in-Rock, Pope County, Joppla, Karak, Metropolis, Rosiclare and Vienna. There is no district tournament.

Looking at the assignments, the Harrisburg sectional tournament at this early date is stacking up as a good one with a possibility that two of the best teams in the state — Mt. Vernon and West Frankfort — will be playing here.

The other southern Illinois sectional tournament will be at Pinckneyville, where regional winners from Anna, Belleville, Marion and Campbell Hill will compete.

The assignments to these four regionals:

Anna: Anna - Jonesboro, Cairo high school, Cairo Summer, Cobden, Mounds Douglass, Tammis, Shawnee and the winner of the Anna district, where Dongola, Goreville, Grand Chain, Mound City Lovejoy, Mound City Community, Mounds Township, Thebes and Ulin will compete.

Belleville: Belleville Township, Belleville Cathedral, Dupo, East St. Louis Assumption, East St. Louis Cahokia, East St. Louis Senior, East St. Louis Lincoln and the winner of the Freeburg district, where Columbia, Freeburg, Lebanon, Mascoutah, O'Fallon, Valmeyer, Waterloo (Parochial) and Waterloo (Public) will compete.

Marion Regional

Marion: Carbondale Community, Carbondale University, Carterville, Herrin, Crab Orchard, Marion, Murphysboro and the winner of the Elkhart district, where Alto Pass, Carbondale Attacks, Elkhart, Gorham, Hurst-Bush, Royalton and Vergennes will compete.

Campbell Hill: Campbell Hill, Chester, Du Quoin, Nashville, Pinckneyville, Red Bud, Sparta and the champion of the Steeleville district, where Coulterville, Marissa, New Athens and Steeleville are entered.

Of considerable interest here is the Alton Regional, where Alton, Collinsville Edwardsville, Granite City, Madison, Roxana, Wood River and the winner of the Venice district meet have been assigned.

Assigned to the Salem regional are Aviston, Breese, Carlyle, Centralia, Okawville, Salem and Sandoval.

Indians Lose At Decatur, But Enjoy Trip

"We sure were treated swell and the 'kids' had some wonderful experiences," Coach Darwin Valters declared in talking about the Shawneetown high school trip to Decatur Saturday to play state rated Eisenhower high.

"We lost 67-34 but that is no indication of the superiority of the Eisenhower team," Valters said. "He described the team as 'tough' — big and fast.

The Shawneetown Indians, with four sophomores and a junior in the starting lineup, scored but eight field goals, four in the opening quarter. In losing Shawneetown shot at a .205 average to Eisenhower's .390.

Friday afternoon three automobiles, loaded with basketball players and the cheerleaders, left Shawneetown and the group returned Sunday afternoon.

Coach Valters' mother drove the cheerleaders and chaperoned the girls during the weekend.

Valters said that even though Shawneetown was beaten badly, it was a worthwhile trip.

The team had the opportunity to practice twice—Friday night and again Saturday morning—and the welcome mat was out everywhere they went.

The group stayed at the Orlando hotel and Valters declared the young people really enjoyed the opportunity of staying in a first class hotel with all the services. "It was a trip that will long be remembered," Valters said.

Shoeless in Detroit

DETROIT (UP) — Mrs. Margaret Daniel tracked down a pair of her husband's stolen shoes while the suspected thief was still in them. She trailed the burglar phoned police and recovered the loot, leaving a shoeless youth to confess 20 other burglaries.

Schayes New Scoring Champ

NEW YORK (AP) — Adolph Schayes of the Syracuse Nationals was officially confirmed today as the all-time professional basketball scoring champion even as he closed ground on Detroit's George Yardley in this season's scoring race.

Sunday night Schayes set a new career record of 11,770 points, topping in 10 years the career mark of 11,764 set by former Minneapolis star George Mikan. Both figures included play by each man in the National Basketball League, but not playoff games.

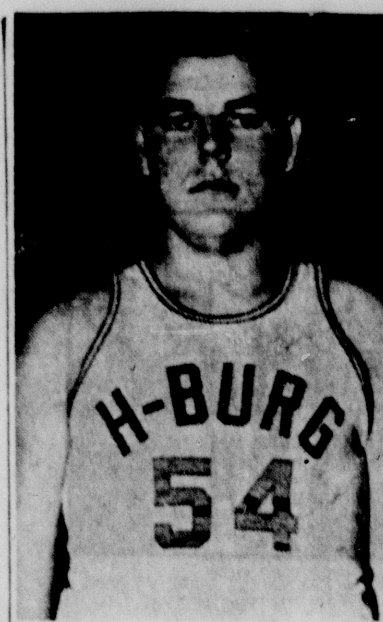

The league reported that Schayes' new point record is one of 18 individuals and team records broken during the first half of the current season.

Schayes scored more points (109) in four games last week than Yardley did (107) in five and so crept close to the pace-making Piston. Yardley continued to lead the chase in the regular weekly standings with 1,034 points, but Schayes was a close second with 986.

Big Clyde Lovellette of Cincinnati was third in total points with 939, followed by Bob Pettit of St. Louis with 916 and Bill Sharman of Boston with 866. On the basis of average points per game, the standings are slightly different. Yardley is first with 26.5 and Schayes second with 24.7. But Pettit is third at 24.6, Lovellette fourth at 23.5, and Sharman fifth at 23.4.

Road-building Costly

MADISON, Wis. — (UP) — The state highway commission scheduled about $69,970,000 for road building contracts in Wisconsin for 1957. This is 30 per cent more than the 1956 figure of $53,720,000.

BEST BULL DOGS LAST WEEK-END—Ron Maynard (No. 54) was judged the best Harrisburg player against Benton and Ray Hassett (No. 42) the best against Mt. Vernon in week-end basketball play and both will be entertained tonight by the Harrisburg Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Indiana Tags Minnesota With First Big 10 Loss; Badgers Edge Illini, 71-70

CHICAGO (AP)—Michigan and Indiana moved to the front today in the Big Ten basketball sweepstakes and Minnesota joined ranks of the defeated.

The Hoosiers, with towering Archie Dees and Jerry Thompson accounting for 44 points, tripped Minnesota, 85-64, to tag the Gophers with their first league defeat. The Gophers went into the contest as the only unbeaten team in the conference.

Michigan matched Indiana's conference record of three wins in four starts by holding big Frank Howard to 14 points on its way to a 72-63 triumph over Ohio State. The loss was the second straight for the Buckeyes and left them in a three-way tie for seventh place with Iowa and Purdue.

Northwestern and Wisconsin also moved up a notch in Monday night's action.

The Wildcats rebounded from an opening night setback to capture their second straight Big Ten victory, defeating Iowa, 82-80, on Phil Warren's jump shot with three seconds remaining in the overtime session.

Walt Holt, Wisconsin's senior guard, ended the Badgers' contest with Illinois on a similar thrilling note when he sank a basket in the final six seconds for a 71-70 victory.

Dees Scores 22 Points

Monday night's results put Northwestern into third place, Michigan State, Minnesota and Wisconsin in a tie for fourth, and left the Illini on the bottom rung with three losses in four games.

Dees' 22-point performance for the Hoosiers was two points better than Minnesota's George Kline, the conference scoring leader, and it moved him to within a half-point of the Gopher star's 25.5 average.

The Hoosiers' victory was their easiest thus far against a Big Ten rival, and Coach Branch McCracken emptied the bench with 13 minutes left in the game.

The Wolverines raced from a 36-34 halftime disadvantage to a fat 64-57 lead over the Buckeyes with four minutes left. Pete Tiltonson with 18 points, and Terry Miller and George Lee with 16 apiece, led the Michigan attack.

The Wildcats and Hawkeyes battled evenly down to the wire, ending the regulation game in a 74-74 tie. The Hawks jumped ahead early in the overtime session, but two free throws and then a jump shot by Wildcat guard Nick Mantis tied the score twice. With three seconds left, Warren, whose final shot in the regulation game rimmed the basket and rolled out, sank a lay-up for the Wildcat win.

Holt's winning basket for Wisconsin was one of nine field goals and two free throws bagged by the senior guard for 20 points. Don Oni led the assault for Illinois, getting 22 points to retain his position as the league's third best scorer.

WHILE CAR PRICES WENT UP THROUGHOUT THE INDUSTRY, THE PRICE OF THIS CAR WENT DOWN

Here's good news for people who are tired of reading about higher prices for 1958 cars: Ford has priced many of its new '58 models lower than corresponding 1957 models!

In fact, Ford Custom 300's are priced as much as $50 lower than last year. This is based on an actual comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices.

Who'd ever guess it's the lowest priced of the low-price three

In case you haven't yet gotten around to pricing this elegantly styled 58 Ford Custom 300, put your mind at ease. When you compare manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices, you'll find that this Ford is priced lower than any sedan in its field. And Ford has the lowest-priced station wagon and convertible, too!

But price isn't everything. The 58 Ford made history, too, as the first car ever to use the whole world as its test track! This meant taking the all-new Interceptor V-8, combining it with new Cruise-O-Matic Drive, and tackling some of the roughest roads we could find on three continents. This terrific power team (available with up to 300 hp) proved that it can handle any driving you'll ever have to do... while saving you up to 15% on gas! Start your savings for '58 with a lower-priced Ford!

Safe Landing by Airliner with Defective Gear

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—A big U. S. airliner, eastbound from New York with 51 passengers aboard, landed safely here today despite defective landing gear which caused it to skip a scheduled stop in London.

er's passengers or crewmen was injured. The pilot brought his big Super-Constellation in safely after circling the big Rhine-Maine Airport for an hour in an effort to use up his excess supply of gasoline. The big plane was scheduled to land first in London, but when the defect in the landing gear developed, it was decided to fly directly to Frankfurt. The decision to overfly Britain was helped along by the fact that 37 of the 51 passengers on board were headed for the German city. Rhine-Main Airport, one of the busiest in Europe, promptly went on an emergency basis. Fire trucks, ambulances and emergency vehicles were called out to help.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Sign-Up Period for Corn Acreage Reserve Program Opens; Will End March 7

By WARREN STROTHER
United Press Staff Correspondent

The sign-up period for the corn acreage reserve program under the federal soil bank opened today. Illinois farmers have until March 7 to sign contracts placing part of their land in the soil bank instead of planting it in corn. The 1958 crop year may be the last opportunity farmers have to participate in the acreage reserve program.

Prospects are that the acreage reserve program will be abolished after 1958. The conservation reserve program, however, will be continued. The conservation reserve program is the long-range plan for taking land out of production for as much as 10 years.

Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation officials at Springfield reported no specific quota has been assigned Illinois for the corn acreage reserve program this year, but funds are available for a substantial program.

The Payments Vary

The payment for placing Illinois corn land in the soil bank this year ranges from $31 an acre in Pulaski and Williamson counties to $69 an acre in Carroll County. Statewide it averages $51 an acre, but varies from county to county and farm to farm on a productivity basis.

Under the program each farm is assigned a soil bank base, which is the average of all the feed or grain crops grown on the farm for the past two years.

The land taken out of corn production has to be withdrawn from the farm's corn acreage allotment and participating farmers have to stay within their wheat and corn allotments, less the amount of wheat and corn land in the soil bank.

The deadline for placing wheat in the wheat acreage reserve program has already passed. State ASC officials reported 3,625 contracts were included in the 1958 wheat program, covering about 60,000 acres.

"Whole Farm" Plan

The participating wheat farmers will be paid a total of $1,884,000 for their wheat acreage reduction this year. The average payment for the wheat acreage reserve program is about $32 an acre.

The other part of the soil bank, the conservation reserve program, is open until April 15, the 1958 deadline for placing additional land in conservation reserve contracts for as much as 10 years.

The regular conservation reserve program, however, is being held up this year until the new experimental "whole farm" program is out of the way. Farmers may enter bids with their county ASC offices throughout January under this program.

The "whole farm" plan will permit a farmer to put all of the crop land on his farm under five or 10 year conservation reserve contracts and get paid for keeping the land out of production.

The payment per year per acre, however, has to be approved by the government before such a contract may be made.

The Adirondack Mountains occupy an area of 5,000 square miles in the north-northeastern part of New York state.

COOK'S NIGHTMARE—Mess Sgt. Charles Kruzewski of Co. G, 143rd Inf., gazes in awe at a small portion of the 35 million pounds of government rice stored at the Comet Rice Mills in Houston, Tex. According to an Army cookbook, if rice pudding were made from the contents of the warehouse, there would be enough to serve every man, woman and child in North America, Africa, Australia and half of Europe. Kruzewski's comment on the Texas-size pudding, "That's a lot of raisins in any cook's nightmare."
